1st Annual Virginia Interprofessional Summit for Addiction Education

March 29, 2018

Abbott Auditorium,
Darden Graduate School of Business
Charlottesville, Virginia

Jointly provided by the Office of Continuing Medicine Education of the University of Virginia School of Medicine and School of Nursing Continuing Education.

Jointly hosted by University of Virginia School of Medicine, Virginia Department of Health, Virginia Department of Behavioral Health & Developmental Services, Eastern Virginia Medical School, Liberty University College of Osteopathic Medicine, Virginia Commonwealth University School of Medicine, Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine & Research Institute, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Administration.
PROGRAM DESCRIPTION
This one day summit is designed to help clinicians and educators develop an interprofessional approach to educating and delivering quality addiction education and services to patients and families. This conference builds on evidence-based approaches to addiction identification and management in combination with interprofessional collaborative and educational practices into a competency-based plan for pain management and addiction care.

The program format is designed to foster thoughtful discussions, analysis and collaborative learning and practice to address the current addiction-based epidemic associated with opioids and other potentially abusive substances.

Special Note: This one-day summit meets the Virginia Board of Medicine requirement for 2 hours of continuing education (CE) in pain management, proper prescribing of controlled substances and the diagnosis and management of addiction.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES
Through participation in this one day summit, participants will:

- Review current federal standards, expectations and support for healthcare professionals who care for individuals with substance abuse disorders
- Examine the key variables associated with successful integration of prevention/early intervention strategy for management of addiction in healthcare organizations
- Demonstrate the teleECHO mentorship model for brief interventional conducted by interprofessional providers across 6 SBIRT sites
- Describe the core knowledge and skills that serve as the foundation for developing a comprehensive curriculum on addiction for students/clinicians in the health professions
- Align the diagnostic and therapeutic options with current regulatory, patient-centric and systems-based frameworks into the delivery of interprofessional care on addiction conditions
- Review and discuss the relevance and integration of national interprofessional education and collaborative competencies in the design of a comprehensive curriculum for substance abuse use disorders
- Review the resources, value and services available through the ASPIRE (Academic Strategic Partnerships for Interprofessional Research and Education) Center at the University of Virginia in the development of curricular and systems-based interprofessional education and continued professional development for healthcare teams.
